Liberate Leadership, stimulate neighbourhoods, accelerate change.

The idea of leadership is rarely trusted in the community sector – it lets many down, or is dismissed as an irrelevance. We think it's time to challenge that view, and open up new leadership opportunities.

Liberating Leadership draws on rich experience of the sector, questioning traditional assumptions, and suggesting an empowering and accessible new approach.

What you will learn

- Eight leadership principles for taking action and achieving social change
- Collective ownership of leadership through sharing roles
- Leadership as a learning journey
- How to build on your existing skills and experience
